1. Skyline Design

The structural design of the Ruby daybed allows the large piece to easily convert from a daybed to a sofa. It's available in the finish Kubu Mushroom by Viro and is composed of 100% recyclable materials. skylinedesign.com Booth 5129

2. Fermob

With four slender, straight legs on flared feet and rounded angles between the base and the seat, the Lorette chair is a nod to the furniture style of the 1950s. Durable, stackable and easy to handle, the piece is available in any of Fermob's 24 colors. fermobusa.com Booth 5337

3. Kuzco Lighting

Bold and sophisticated, the Warner wall sconce is a versatile example of reductive geometric design. Available in two asymmetric shapes and multiple mounting orientations, the fixture is conditionally adaptive. kuzcolighting.com Booth 5501
